Richard worked with the team at Vets4Pets Southend-on-Sea, for a year, as a Nursing Assistant. He was a pleasure to have around, loved by our patients, clients and staff. He always put our patients first, and his soft-spot for animals is obvious to everyone who meets him. This was sometimes to the detriment of his girlfriend, Sam, as he told me that he woke her up in the middle of the night on more than one occasion, to tell her how thrilled he was to have held the newborn puppies, when I had delivered them by caesarean!

He gained an understanding of companion animal first-aid, and the many conditions we commonly encounter in dogs and cats, when he was working here. I'm sure that this will be invaluable in his new job.

If you are after someone kind, genuine, honest and reliable, who will care for your animal like it is his own, I can't think of anyone better than Rich. I speak from personal experience, as I trusted him to pet-sit for my dog, Poppy. She came back very happy indeed!

I wish him loads of luck with his new job. He doesn't need it, but he sure as heck deserves it.
